

USA Graduate and Students Papers Competition 2010

Winning title examples from the UK 2009 Competition

This is the first year the ICE has run this competition in the USA – the titles below illustrate how diverse your paper topic can be! We welcome your creativity.

- The Behavior of FRP Re-inforced Masonry Arches on Spreading Supports
- Developer Contribution to Flood Alleviation Scheme
- International engineering contribution to slum upgrading projects in the developing world
- New Analytical Solution for Interfacial Stress Analysis of Beams bonded with Soffit Plate
- Extending the collapse time of non-engineered buildings in earthquakes“
- An assessment of building structural elements life-cycle embodied energy and CO2 emissions
- Consideration of a Masterplan for Flood Risk management in the Thames Estuary.
- Innovative Pavement Construction Within Live Airfields
- Musa Qala: Successes and Failures of Reconstruction and Development in Afghanistan
- Compressed Stabilised Soil Technology in Low-cost Construction in Sudan
- Thinking Outside the Box - Alternative Solutions to London’s Transportation Problems
- Design of Low Cost Cementitious Beams for Application in Developing Countries
- Artificial Ground Freezing - Behavior, Applications and Considerations
- Sacrificial Anodes in Concrete Repairs
- Improving communication on construction sites with the aim to improve H&S.
- Determination of the Relationship between Void Ratio and Permeability of Soils

Sponsored by:

ARUP

Halcrow

Hatch Mott
MacDonald

For entry form & more details visit www.iceusa.org for queries contact Alison Littlejohn at events@iceusa.org +1 212 897 1523

